

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

INTRODUCTION.

THE Acts of Parliament relating to Worcestershire form an organic whole, and are sufficient of themselves to fill a volume of the Society's Publications: moreover they will fit in easily with the other portions of the Bibliography which are in progress; and therefore it was deemed advisable to begin with the publication of this Section of the work.

There is probably no one Library in existence which contains copies of all the Acts catalogued in this list. Those who wish to consult the full text of any Act are referred to the Collections of the Guildhall Library, London, the British Museum, or the Birmingham Law Society. There are also very good collections in the Incorporated Law Society's Library, and in the Temple and Lincoln's Inn Libraries. The Editors wish to state that the references to Personal, Private, and Local Acts are taken from titles only, and that there are probably many private Acts relating to Worcestershire which do not reveal the fact from the title, and which are therefore omitted. The local newspapers kindly inserted letters asking for information as to such Acts, but the results were very sparse.

The lists of Commissioners for collecting the Taxes in the sixteenth, seventeenth, and eighteenth centuries will be of interest as furnishing the names of those who, from time to time, have taken a leading part in the administration of County affairs. The solicitor may find this work useful for reference: the local historian will have sources of exact information about the district in which he is interested: and the general reader will find indications of the "spirit of the age," as it shewed itself from time to time in Fisheries, Towing Paths, Enclosures, Roads, Canals, Lighting and Drainage, Local Government, Water Supply, Railways, and Electricity, passing in successive waves over the country.

Many of the earlier district Railways have since been swallowed up by the larger Companies, by a process analogous to the great Bank Amalgamations which are going on at the present time.

The most striking change—in fact a complete revolution—in the external appearance of old England, must have been that produced by the Enclosure of the Commons, for which more than one hundred Acts of Parliament were obtained. The first manor in Worcestershire to carry out this plan was Aston Magna, in Blockley, 1733. Nothing more was done till 1736, when Alderminster was enclosed. Besford Common was taken in hand fifteen years later (1751); and soon after the accession of George III. the fashion set in universally, and rapidly overran the country.

For the valuable Indexes of Names and Places we are indebted to our energetic and accomplished general Editor, Mr. John Amphlett.

It is hoped that the “Bibliotheca” may be completed in two more volumes:—

- (1) Works generally relating to the County.
- (2) Works relating to Particular Parishes.

BIBLIOGRAPHY OF WORCESTERSHIRE.

BEING A CLASSIFIED CATALOGUE OF BOOKS,
AND OTHER PRINTED MATTER RELATING TO THE COUNTY OF WORCESTER, WITH DESCRIPTIVE AND EXPLANATORY NOTES.

JOHN R. BURTON,
RECTOR OF BITTERLEY, SHROPSHIRE.

PART II.

Printed for the Worcestershire Historical Society, Part II.
By JAMES PARKER AND CO., OXFORD.

1903.

PROVISIONAL INTRODUCTION.

IN issuing this further instalment of the Bibliography of Worcestershire a few words of explanation will be sufficient for the present, reserving the complete Introduction for the final portion.

The Plan adopted has been mainly that set forth in a Paper on "County Bibliographies," read before the Bibliographical Society, March 18, 1895, by Mr. F. A. Hyett, with the suggestions, and recommendations approved by the Society, January, 1896.

Such a Plan, based on such authority, will no doubt be adopted by other Counties which may take up similar work, and this will ensure uniformity in future bibliographies.

Mr. Hyett's Paper gives what may be called the "Theory" of the system: the "Bibliography of Gloucestershire," written by Mr. Hyett, in conjunction with the Rev. W. Bazeley, shews the practical working of the scheme: to these gentlemen I must express my deep obligation.

The classification of books into two parts, relating (1) exclusively and (2) partially, to the County, can only be regarded as approximate. It seemed advisable to keep the Civil War Tracts to the same part, although many of them are concerned with the City of Worcester alone, and others pertain also to adjacent Counties. The "Boscobel" series again forms a natural sequel to the Battle of Worcester, though it relates largely to Shropshire, &c. The "Saints' Rest" and "Hudibras" are of such world-wide reputation that they seem to demand a place as County books, though they may hereafter also find notice under the head of Kidderminster, Rous Lench, and Strensham.

The Seventeenth-century Tracts belonging to the late Mr. J. Grainger (marked J. G.) have since been presented to the Victoria Institute, Worcester.

The drawback to a work of this kind is the want of finality. There must still be books left unrecorded: if particulars of these are sent to me they can appear in an Addendum.

The "Acts of Parliament" appeared in 1898. The Botanical books concerning Worcestershire will form a continuation of the present part, together with "County Organization" and Diocesan and Nonconformist periodical literature.

The last portion will embrace the various Towns and Villages in alphabetical order. The Newspapers, past and present, will fall under the place of publication. To make this part complete the co-operation of all the Members of the Society is earnestly invited.

A full Index of Authors and Subjects will be made when the whole work is completed.

I must take this opportunity of expressing my thanks to helpers in this work : to Mr. John Cotton, architect, of Oxford, for valuable notes collected by himself and his lamented brother, Mr. W. A. Cotton, of Bromsgrove, the generous donor of many rare Worcestershire books to the Victoria Institute; to the Rev. J. Bowstead Wilson, Mr. John Amphlett, Mr. Gerald Mills, Mr. Charles Virgo, the late Mr. John Grainger, the Rev. E. R. Dowdeswell, Lieut.-General H. F. Davies, Mr. Duckworth (Librarian of the Worcester Free Library), Mr. A. W. Worthington, Professor Wright, Mr. W. Wickham King, F.G.S., the Rev. W. C. Boulter, Mr. C. D. BIBLIOGRAPHY OF WORCESTERSHIRE.

JOHN OSWEN.

JOHN OSWEN, as being by far the earliest printer in Worcestershire, stands on a pedestal alone, and demands notice, not from the subject-matter of his books, but by reason of the great interest of the books themselves.

The birthplace of printing by moveable types was Mainz in Germany in 1454. The famous Mazarin Bible was produced there in or before 1456. In 1460 Strasburg took up the work, closely followed by Bamberg and Cologne. German printers set up a press in 1465 at Subiaco in Italy. Then followed Rome, 1467, Basel, 1468, Venice, 1469, and Paris, 1470. Thirteen other Italian presses date from 1471. Holland began not later than 1472. About this time William Caxton, an English merchant in middle life, forsook business for literature, and became a printer, to be better able to multiply copies of his own works. He learnt the art at Bruges, where he first printed two English books. In 1477 he produced at Westminster the "Dictes and Sayings of the Philosophers," the first English book printed in England.

The first English press to follow Caxton's was that of Oxford, where books were printed by Theodore Rood between 1478 and 1486. London and St. Alban's both started in 1480, followed by Edinburgh, 1507, York, 1509, Cambridge, 1521, and Tavistock, 1525. Ipswich had three printers in 1548, and late in that year the most famous of them, John Oswen, removed to Worcester; so that this city ranks as the tenth place in the British Isles in connection with this art. John Oswen is known to have printed at least twenty-nine works, and of these only about thirty copies in all have been preserved. The chief authorities are—

Of John Oswen the man but little is known. His printing office at Worcester was in the High Street. Timperley suggests that he was patronised by Cardinal Wolsey. In 1548 we find him established at Ipswich, but his stay there was probably only a short one, for on Jan. 30, 1549, he brought out a volume at Worcester entitled "A Consultorie for all Christians." Prefixed to this work is the King's licence of Jan. 6th, 1548-9, to Oswen, to print all sorts of service or prayer books, and "al maner of bokes conteynying any story or exposition of God's holy scripture within our Principallitie of Wales and marches of the same." The original licence is to be found in the Record Office. Here we find the inducement which brought Oswen into the west country. He was made the official printer for the Marches, which included the counties of Worcester, Hereford, Gloucester, and Salop, as well as all Wales. A president, four judges, and several counsellors, exercised jurisdiction over this large region, the Court being held chiefly at Ludlow and Bewdley, where there were royal residences, but sometimes also at Worcester, Shrewsbury, and Hereford. The president, in the early part of the reign of Edward VI., was John Dudley, Earl of Warwick (afterwards Duke of Northumberland), so we may perhaps conclude that Oswen, a man of kindred theological views, came here under his patronage. Like Caxton and other early printers, or William Morris in later days, he was not merely a tradesman, but a man of literary taste and strong convictions. Some of his books were translated by himself. Of the nature of his religious views we can have no doubt when we read the titles of his books. On May 18, 1553, he published a Homily by Bishop Hooper, and soon afterwards the Statutes of Edward VI. But in the July following Queen Mary came to the throne, and the Worcester press, like that at Canterbury and other places, suddenly ceased its work. Probably John Oswen sought an asylum in Holland or Switzerland, which then became the chief seats of the English Puritan press.

Before giving a detailed description of these books two noteworthy facts may be considered :—(1) that after Oswen's press was broken up, there is no authenticated case of printing in Worcestershire for 155 years, and (2) that so few of Oswen's books are in existence.

(1) The new-born power of the press—the fourth estate—was already beginning to be keenly appreciated by the Government, and it was felt instinctively that a free press was incompatible with despotic power. An ingenious plan was devised to control the press by means of an association, attached to the Crown by the valuable privilege of enjoying a monopoly of printing, and easily coerced if inclined to use its power contrary to the wishes of the Government. Instead of a hydra, there would be only one head to be severed. On 4th May, 1556, Queen Mary put a stop for a long time to all printing, except at London and the Universities, by granting a Charter to the Stationers' Company. They had the rights of the Inquisition over all literary compositions—might search houses for any books which they deemed obnoxious to the State or their own interests—might enter, as often as they pleased, any place, house, shop, chamber or building, belonging to any stamper, printer, binder, or seller of any manner of books—might seize, take away, have, burn, or convert to their own use whatever they should think was printed contrary to the form of any Statute, Act, or Proclamation made or to be made. (Timperley.)

In 1566 a Star Chamber decree was issued for the regulation of printing. The Stationers' Company had the right of search everywhere, and three months' imprisonment was inflicted on all who printed books contrary to the order. And this stern repression was carried on for ages. In the Company itself no new printer could be enrolled till the death of a member made a vacancy. Every book must receive the imprimatur of the Archbishop or of the Bishop of London before being printed. The number of apprentices was limited. The usual penalties were defacement of stock, disqualification, and imprisonment. With such a heavy hand laid upon all enterprise, it is no wonder that the art of printing in England retrograded—that the printing of Spenser's and Shakespeare's works was unworthy of the noble thoughts they breathed.

Under Charles I. the same policy was carried out. In 1637 only twenty presses were allowed in London. No printer, except the Warden of the Company, could have more than two presses. Only four letter founders were allowed to trade. The pillory, and whipping through the city, were assigned to those who evaded this law. We are not surprised at the importance that Pym attached to getting the order from the House of Commons for the printing of the Grand Remonstrance. Milton's "Areopagitica," a splendidly eloquent plea for the liberty of the press, was issued in 1644; but half-a-century elapsed before his views were adopted. In 1662 an Act restricted printing to London, York, Oxford, and Cambridge; it was renewed again in 1679 and 1685, and finally expired in 1695. Before this latter year, then, it was impossible for any book to be printed in Worcester except surreptitiously, and after Oswen, nothing has been met with certainly produced there till 1708.

(2) It has now to be shown why Oswen's books are so scarce. We have seen that his publications were strongly in favour of the Reformation, and consequently nearly all of them would fall within the purview of Queen Mary's Proclamation of June 6, 1555. "Whereas dyvers books filled both with heresye and treason have of late been printed within this realme, . . . whosoever shall be found to have any of the sayd wicked and seditious books, or fynding them, do not forthwith burne the same without shewing or readyng the same to any other person, shall in that case bee reputed and taken for a rebell, and shall without delay be executed for that offence, according to thorder of martiall law." A further Proclamation, issued seven days later, enumerates the authors thus interdicted, and among them were Oecolampadius, Zwingle, John Calvin, Bullinger, Melancthon, John Hooper, Miles Coverdale, and Thomas Cranmer, all included in John Oswen's list. Moreover, it was ordained "that no person presume to sell, reade, or keep any bookes printed in the Latten or Englyshe tonge concernynge the common service sett forth in Englyshe to be used in the Churches of this realme in the tyme of Kinge Edward the VI., commonly called the Communyon Booke, but shall wythin the space of fyfteen dayes bring or delyver the sayd bookes to thordinarie of the dioces or his chancelloure to be burnt or otherweye to be ordered. And their Majestyes geveth full power to all byshops and all Justices of Peace, Mayors, etc., to enquer and serche oute the sayd bookes, and for this purpose enter into the howse or howses, clossetts, and secrete places of everye person of whatsoever degree, suspected to kepe anye such books, contrarye to this proclamatyon." When such a penalty as that of being executed as a rebel without judge or jury hung over the head of anyone merely owning one of Oswen's books, it is rather wonderful that any copies have survived. So long ago as 1727, Lord Oxford paid £10 for Oswen's first Prayer Book. In quoting this proclamation it is not necessary to impute superior virtue to one side or the other. In the previous reigns many books had been nearly as rigorously proscribed. But through this sad religious strife irreparable havoc has been wrought with our earliest books and manuscripts.

(17) "The Boke of common prayer, and administracion of the Sacramentes and other rites and Ceremonies in the Church of England. Wigornia in officina Ioannis Oswen. Cum privilegio ad imp. solum. Anno 1552."

Title page in red and black, within border made up of small woodcuts. At top the royal arms; below, King Edward VI. on throne. On left: Angel expelling Adam and Eve from Paradise, the Resurrection, and the Brazen Serpent in the Wilderness. On right: the Annunciation, the Crucifixion, and the Israelites collecting Manna. Size, 10½ inches by 7 inches. The book has been sumptuously rebound, but was rather cut down in the process. On the title page is the autograph of a former owner, John Prideaux, Bishop of Worcester (1641). Title, 1 p.; contents, 1 p.; preface, "There was never anything . . ." 3 pp.; the table and kalendar, 1 p.; table of Psalms, 1 p.; proper Psalms and lessons, 4 pp.; almanac for xix. yeres, 1 p.; almanac, 12 pp.; act of uniformity, 4 pp.; the prayer book, to S6 (12 pp. to each letter). The whole of sheet "N" is missing; the break begins near the end of the Gospel for St. John Baptist's day (M8). "O" commences with "the order for administracioun of the Lordes Supper." The Colophon:

"At Worceter in the hie strete By Jhon Oswen, Prynter appointed by the Kinges Maiestie, for the Principalitie of Wales and Marches of the same." "C Faultes escaped."

bishopes &c. shal sell the said bookes in queres for iis. And bound in lether in paste bordes or claspes for iiis. ivd."

The above description applies to the copy in the Cathedral Library belonging to the Dean and Chapter of Worcester. The only other copy known is an imperfect one in the Bodleian. The demand for this Prayer Book was so great that Oswen seems to have printed nothing else throughout the year 1552.

Cathedral Library, Worcester; Bodleian, imperfect.

(18) "An Homelye to read in the tyme of pestylence and a most presente remedye for the same."

Woodcuts of royal arms at the top of title page, and King Edward VI. as a boy seated on the throne below, all in border. Size 7 in. by 5 in.; large clear type, black letter; title page; one blank. Dedication:

"To all Pastoures and Curates wythin the Kinges Maiesties Diocesse of Worcester and Gloucester."

5 pp. "¶ An homilie, &c. . . . Gatherd out of the holy scripture by Jhon Hoper Bushoppe of Worcester and Gloucester A.D. 1553," 27 pp.

"Imprinted at Worceter 18 Maii 1553 by Jhon Oswen, Prynter appointed by the Kinges Majestie for the principalitie of Wales and Marches of the same. Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum."

British Museum.

In 1862 a copy was in the library of the Rev. J. Fuller Russell. See Notes and Queries, May 10, 1862, page 368.

(19) Statutes of 7 Edw. VI. Colophon. "At Worcestre —, Printer appoincted by the Kinges Maiestie for the Principalitie of Wales and Marches of the same. Anno Domini MD. LIII."

Quoted by Herbert as in his own possession.

(20) "The most fruteful dialogues, treatynge vpon the baptisms of Chyldren, very necessary to be rede of all chrystyans in these most paryllouse tymes: by Ihon Heron." Probably a mistake for Veron.

Not known; given in Herbert's Ames, but looks suspiciously like No. 16 (Allnutt).

According to Herbert's Ames, Oswen printed, at Worcester, in 1548, two editions of the New Testament, one in quarto and another in folio, in addition to the quarto edition of Jan. 12, 1550 (No 9). In the British Museum is an imperfect copy of a New Testament in duodecimo, lettered "Oswen, Worcester, 1548" (Allnutt). In the revised catalogue the note on this latter book will read, "This fragment has been attributed to the press of John Owen at Worcester, circa 1549. It was more probably printed in London by John Day."

Mr. R. E. Graves, in the "Dictionary of National Biography," says that none of Oswen's work for 1552 is extant. He has evidently overlooked the Prayer Book, which was no doubt produced in large numbers, and would provide occupation for many months.

At the Annual Meeting of the Archæological Institute, held at Worcester in July, 1862, a loan collection of the productions of John Oswen was brought together, under the auspices of Mr. Albert Way, of Wonham Manor, Reigate. It is quite possible that even yet some forgotten examples of the rare volumes may be brought to light. The copies now known to be in the County are only five, viz., the Prayer Book of 1552, in the possession of the Dean and Chapter at the Cathedral Library; John Veron's "Godly Sayings," belonging to Earl Beauchamp at Madresfield Court; and the Prayer Book of 1549, and the two parts of "Domestycall or Household Sermons," owned by Mr. Michael Tomkinson, of Franche Hall, near Kidderminster. The Bodleian has five copies of one book: could it not spare one of them to its natural home at the Victoria Institute Library in Worcester?

Contents or Table, 8 pp. Treatise:—

1st part, 164 pp. On page 164, 'Finis.'

Next a separate title, "The Saint's Everlasting Rest. The Second Part. . . ." 1649.

Then Epistle Dedicatory, "To my dearly-beloved Friends the inhabitants of Bridgnorth, both magistrates and people. Richard Baxter devoteth this part of this Treatise. In testimony of his unfeigned love to them to whom he was sent (or fixed) to publish the Gospel. And in thankfulness to the Divine Majesty who there priviledged and protected him." 2 pp.

To the Reader, 8 pp., dated Jan. 18, 1649. Part II., pp. 167—260.

Next a separate title, "The Saint's Everlasting Rest. The Third Part. . . ." Then Epistle Dedicatory, "To my dearly beloved Friends, the inhabitants of the city of Coventry, both magistrates and people: especially Col. John Barker and Col. Tho. Willoughby, late Governors, with all the officers and soldiers of their garrison. Rich. Baxter devoteth this part of this Treatise in thankful acknowledgment of their great affection toward him and ready acceptance of his labors among them—which is the highest recompense, if joyned with obedience, that a faithful minister can expect." 2 pp. Part III., pp. 263—551.

Next a separate title—"The Saint's Everlasting Rest. The Fourth Part. . . ."

Then Epistle Dedicatory, "To my dearly beloved friends in the Lord, the inhabitants of the town of Shrewsbury, both magistrates, ministers, and people, as also of the neighbouring parts. Rich. Baxter devoteth this practicale part of this Treatise as a testimony of his love to his native soyl and to his many godly and faithfull friends there living." 2 pp.

The Introduction, pp. 555—558. Part IV., pp. 559—848. On fly-leaf, first side 'Errata' headed, 'If you will reade nothing but what was intended by the Author amend these misprintings: the rest are but small.'

The most interesting copy of this work in existence is that still treasured up at Kidderminster, and handed over to the keeping of successive Mayors of the Borough. On the fly-leaf is written in Baxter's own hand this inscription:—

"This Booke being Devoted, as to the service of the Church of Christ in generall, so more especially to the Church at Kederminster, the Author desireth that this Copsy may be still in the custodye of the high Bayliffe: and intreateth them carefully to Read and Practice it: and beseecheth the Lord to blesse it to their true Reformation, Consolation and Salvation.

RICH. BAXTER."

After the Restoration the passage in which the Leaders of the Commonwealth are named as in glory is omitted. See page 86 of 1st Edⁿ, page 101 of 2nd.

"The second book which I wrote—and the first which I began—was that called 'The Saint's Everlasting Rest': Whilst I was in health I had not the least thought of writing books or of serving God in any more public way than preaching. . . . But when I was weakened with great bleeding . . . and was sentenced to death by the physicians, I began to contemplate more seriously on the Everlasting Rest which I apprehended myself to be just on the borders of. . . . The first three weeks I spent on the book was at Mr. Nowell's house at Kirby-Mallory in Leicestershire: a quarter of a year more, at the seasons which so great weakness would allow, I bestowed on it at Sir Thomas Rous's house at Rous-Lench in Worcestershire: and I finished it shortly after at Kidderminster. . . . This Book it pleased God so far to bless to the profit of many that it encouraged me to be guilty of all those scripts which after followed." (Reliquiæ.)

The writer was Thomas Weaver, born at Worcester, 1616. Chaplain of Christ Church, Oxford, 1641; ejected in 1648. This book was declared to be seditious and libellous, and subjected the author to arrest and trial on a capital charge of treason. The judge, however, was unwilling to condemn "a scholar and a man of wit." The book is rare.

Baxter was accused of having driven such hard bargains with his Booksellers (or Publishers) that they became bankrupt. Nevil Simmons of Kidderminster was one of the earliest Worcestershire booksellers: when he was 'broke' in Kidderminster, he settled in London, and continued to act for Baxter. "NEVIL . SIMMONS . BOOKSELR . IN . KIDDERMINSTER . HIS . HALF . PENY," was one of the tradesmen's tokens issued in 1663. Baxter defended himself from the charge, and thus explained his dealings with his Booksellers. "When I first ventured upon the publication of my thoughts I knew nothing of the art of booksellers. I offered my book called 'The Saints' Rest' to Thomas Underhill and Francis Tyton to print, leaving the matter of profits, without any covenants, to their ingenuity. They gave me ten pounds for the first impression, and ten pounds a piece, that is twenty pounds, for every after impression, till 1665. Mr. Underhill died: his wife became poor. Mr. Tyton had losses by the fire in 1666. Afterwards I used Mr. Symmonds only. I had till then taken for all save 'The Saints' Rest,' the fifteenth book. Ever since I took the fifteenth book for myself and friends, and eighteenpence more for every ream of the other fourteen, which I destined to the poor."

THE Romantic escape of King Charles II. after the Battle of Worcester, has fascinated successive generations, so that round it is gathered a literature of its own : it will therefore be advisable to bring together these works under one heading, which may be entitled :—

BOSCOBEL ; OR, THE FLIGHT OF THE KING.

The story has come down to us as told by many eye-witnesses, including the King himself.

In 1830 seven of these narratives were collected by Mr. J. Hughes, and published in one volume, entitled the "Boscobel Tracts," of which a more complete edition appeared in 1857. In 1897 Mr. Allan Fea published a "full, true, and particular account," with many illustrations—being the exact text of five other narratives, supplementary to Hughes' "Boscobel Tracts." But these are not exhaustive. "Whiteladies," "England's Triumph," and the "Royal Oake," all tell the same story. Mr. Manning's List of the various editions of the Boscobel Tracts (published in 1861) will be of interest to collectors, and is appended.

1660. Boscobel, or the History of His Sacred Majesties most Miraculous Preservation after the Battle of Worcester, 3 Sept., 1651. Introduced by an exact Relation of that Battle. Joel i. 2, London: Printed for Henry Seile, Stationer to the King's most Excellent Majesty. 1660.

Title-page. Epistle to the Reader, 2 pp. The Contents, 4 pp. Text, pp. 212.

Speaking of Timber near Bewdley (pp. 70, 71), he says :—

“In 10,000 acres of coppices there is not growing at this present 100 tun or loads of good timber fit for ship building : had the Act of Elizabeth been observed, there would be at least 40 good Oken trees per acre = 10,000,000 tuns. The wood was made into charcoal for iron furnaces.”

Again he writes :—

“Upon which I fell on and made the River Stour compleatly Navigable from Sturbridge to Kederminster, and carried down many hundred Tuns of Coales, and laid out near £1,000, and then it was obstructed for want of money.”

This book is one of the most remarkable of the Century. The writer and his work have been thus described by Mr. P. E. Dove :—

“In style the book is as multifarious as the questions of which it treats : a little bit of autobiography, a few voyages and travels, a dialogue ‘betwixt a clothier, a woollen draper, and a country yeoman,’ a little of ‘theorick,’ and a little of ‘practick,’ some agriculture, and some considerations regarding rats and mice.

“Andrew Yarranton was a true practical Englishman, shrewd, enterprising ; a man of business, enjoying the confidence of business men ; in all his experiences, carefully reflecting how each particular circumstance might be turned to the advantage of his country. His Prospective sagacity points out the elements that were to contribute to England’s Commercial Supremacy—as if second-sight had revealed those expansions of commerce which we see realised.

“I was an apprentice to a linnen-draper when this king was born, and continued at the trade some years, but the shop being too narrow and short for my large mind, I took leave of my master but said nothing. Then I lived a country life for some years : and in the late wars I was a soldier. In 1652 I entred upon iron works and pli’d them several years, and in them times I made it my business to survey the three great rivers of England and some small ones ; and made two navigable and a third almost compleated. I next studied the great weakness of the rye lands, and the surfeit it was then under by reason of their long tillage. I applied the remedy in putting out two books which were so fitted to the country man’s capacity that he fell on pell-mell ; and I hope and partly know that great part of Worcestershire, Gloucestershire, Herefordshire, Shropshire, and Staffordshire have doubled the value of the land : see my 2 books printed by Mr. Sawbridge on Ludgate Hill, entitled Yarranton’s Improvement by Clover.”

With wise and patriotic liberality the Author was sent to visit the Continent to study such trades, manufactures, or improvements as might be advantageously introduced into England.

When he sees in England so many ports and natural advantages he concludes patriotically that she ought to have the trade.

"We question whether any book of similar size in the English language contains as much masculine good sense on the subject of national wealth and commercial prosperity."

Andrew Yarranton was born at Larford, in the parish of Astley, 1616, and was apprenticed to a Worcester linen draper. In the Civil Wars he rose to be Captain in the Parliamentary army. In 1652 he began manufacturing iron near Bewdley. He introduced clover into England, and was the father of Inland Navigation. His name and his writings have been nearly forgotten, though Bishop Watson said he ought to have had a statue erected to his memory because of his eminent public services. See Chapter IV. of Dr. Smiles' Industrial Biography.

The First Volume.

Preface By William Penn (A—M), 48 pp.

The Journal, pp. 632. Indexes, pp. 16.

The references to Worcester and Worcestershire are fully given in the first Index. He was arrested at Tredington in 1673 and sent to Worcester Gaol, where his experiences are recorded, pp. 388—406. During his imprisonment at Worcester he wrote

- (1) "A Warning to England."
- (2) "To the Jews, proving by the prophets that the Messiah is come."
- (3) "Concerning Inspiration, Revelation, and Prophecy."
- (4) "Against all vain Disputes."
- (5) "For all Bishops and Ministers, to trie themselves by the Scriptures."
- (6) "To such as say we love none but ourselves."
- (7) "Our Testimony concerning Christ."
- (8) "Concerning Swearing."

His Wife's son-in-law, Thomas Lower, was also kept in prison with him, and it was to him at Worcester that George Fox dictated the first part of his famous Journal.

Dedication :—

TO THE RISING GENERATION OF HIS COUNTRYMEN,
THE HEIRS AND HOPES OF MANY ANCIENT AND NOBLE FAMILIES
IN THE COUNTY OF WORCESTER,
THIS VOLUME IS RESPECTFULLY ADDRESSED BY THE COMPILER :
AND WITH IT HIS MOST ARDENT AND AFFECTIONATE WISHES, THAT PRINCIPLES OF PRUDENCE VIRTUE AND RELIGION
EARLY IMBIBED AND RESOLUTELY RETAINED
MAY FORM THEM TO A STEADINESS AND CONSISTENCY OF CONDUCT :
THAT BY A PROVIDENT MANAGEMENT OF THEIR REVENUES
EQUALLY DISTANT FROM AVARICE AND VAIN EXPENCE
THEY MAY SECURE THE INFLUENCE DUE TO THEIR BIRTH AND FORTUNE ; AN INFLUENCE NEVER YET ACQUIRED BY PROFUSION,
AND BY VICE UNAVOIDABLY FORFEITED :
MAY A CAREFUL CULTIVATION OF THEIR TALENTS
AND CONFIRMED HABITS OF SELF-GOVERNMENT
RENDER THEM SUPERIOR TO FALSE PLEASURES OR IMAGINARY WANTS ; AND QUALIFY THEM TO DIGNIFY A PUBLIC STATION,
TO BECOME ACTIVE AND IMPARTIAL MAGISTRATES,
USEFUL AND UNBIASSED SENATORS ;
OR IN THE TRANQUILLITY OF HUMBLER PRIVACY,

TO BE KIND LANDLORDS, HOSPITABLE NEIGHBOURS,
 AND WORTHY COUNTRY GENTLEMEN :
 MAY THEY CONTEMPLATE THE PATTERN DISPLAYED BY HIM ¹
 WHOM THE UNANIMOUS VOICE OF THE PROVINCE HATH CALLED TO PRESIDE IN THEIR JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS :
 MAY THEY COPY HIS DOMESTIC AND HIS PUBLIC VIRTUES :
 MAY THEY BE WISE AND HONOURED AND HAPPY !
 FROM ATTENTION TO SO SHINING AN EXAMPLE
 MANY AMIABLE CHARACTERS ARE HOPED FOR IN THE NEXT AGE :
 AND THE EDITOR OF THIS BOOK WITH PLEASING EXPECTATION
 LOOKS FORWARD TO THAT PERIOD OF HIS WISHES,
 WHICH WILL BE THE DELIGHT OF HIS DECLINING YEARS
 AND STILL FURTHER ENDEAR TO HIM HIS NATIVE COUNTY.

THE HISTORY OF THE PARISHES in Alphabetical Order (continued), pp. 1—484 [Iccomb to Yedfen].

This is at present the most important of all Books on Worcestershire. The great drawback to its use for genealogical or topographical purposes was the want of a full and reliable Index. But this want has lately been admirably supplied by the patient and painstaking work of Mr. John Amphlett of Clent. His Index is invaluable to all who wish to consult these ponderous tomes, comprising 1,500 pages, besides very many illustrations and genealogical tables.

This Index contains an Introduction giving a full account of Dr. Treadway Russell Nash, the difficulties he met with, and the encouragement he received, in carrying out single-handed his great undertaking. As this volume is already on the bookshelves of the Members of the Worcestershire Historical Society, it would be superfluous to give more details here than are necessary to make this Bibliography complete in itself.

The first volume of Dr. Nash's collections appeared in 1781. 700 copies were printed in demy folio, and 50 copies were printed on large paper. It was bound in blue boards, backed with white vellum. The second volume appeared in 1782. The Supplement was published separately in 1799. The view of 'Kyre House,' mentioned in the list to Vol. II. as being at page 70, will be found engraved on the same plate as 'Hallow Park,' given with Vol. I. at p. 472.

"In 1799 the whole book was given to the world, with new title-pages substituted for the former ones, which were cancelled, and with the Supplement bound up with it, as a second edition with additions. In this edition were given also a view of the Bevere elm and an oval portrait of the author on a scroll, the same picture that forms the frontispiece to the volume of notes to his edition of Hudibras. In all other respects but these the two editions are identical." (Amphlett.)

"Of large paper copies only very few exist: Nichols' copy fetched £42. The difference between the Large and Small Paper is not in the size alone: in the former the Talbot pedigree is engraved, in the latter printed: in the former the engraved leaves of Domesday are partly printed in red ink; and in the Small Paper, a portrait (re-impressed from the letter-press engraving) of Bishop Sandys is substituted for that of Sir Edwin Sandys." (Bernard Quaritch, 1868.)

The materials of this work were chiefly collected by Thomas Habington of Hindlip, author of the History of Edward IV., &c.; they were transcribed by his son William, the poet, author of 'Castara,' &c.; and have been printed verbatim for the Worcestershire Historical Society by Mr. John Amphlett.

The coats of arms blazoned in Nash take up 25 columns of the Index. (8vo.)

"Foremost among the Natural History Societies that, like brilliant syngenesious flowers opening before the unclouded sun, met the bright beams of the sun of science, shone forth the Natural History Society of Worcestershire. Its founders seemed men endued with enthusiastic ardour, its patrons appeared liberal and judicious, its friends and lecturers were hailed as men of talent, the world applauded, and even veteran philosophers extended the right hand of fellowship to the new Society that thus vigorous in its early growth, seemed destined to overshadow the land. . . . Novelty, like beauty, is evanescent."

This valuable series of Diocesan Records was issued in five yearly parts, with an Introduction to each part, and finally a General Introduction and Appendix. During a Vacancy of the See the Prior and Convent of Worcester were entitled to administer the Diocese and to take part of the profits thereby derived, under the terms of an agreement made in 1260 between the Prior of Worcester and Archbishop Boniface, that on a vacancy of the See the Prior should collect the revenues, and keep one-third, and pay the Archbishop two-thirds. This privilege was rigorously maintained by the Monks; and of the twenty-one vacancies which occurred between 1301 and 1497, full records are extant of their proceedings in the case of sixteen such occasions. Sometimes these intervals lasted for one or two years, in others only a few months. The light thrown by these records on the social life and customs of the times, as well as on the general and ecclesiastical history of the period, is well shown in the very full Introductions.

Portrait of Thomas Habington.

Vol. II.

Survey of Worcestershire, pp. 1—469.

Index, pp. 471—498.

The Frontispiece to Vol. II. is a reproduction in colour of the Hatchment used on the death of James Habington, with twelve quarterings.

Thomas Habington of Hindlip, at the age of 46, being sentenced to death for complicity in the Gunpowder Plot, was reprieved, but with a condition that he should never afterwards leave the limits of Worcestershire. The remainder of a long life was spent in surveying and making notes for a History of the County. He died Oct. 8, 1647, aged 87, leaving very complete MSS., which are now to be found in three depositories—(1) Viscount Cobham's Library at Hagley Hall, (2) The British Museum, and (3) The Library of the Society of Antiquaries. These materials have been partially used by Dr. William Thomas, Valentine Green, and Dr. Treadway Nash. Mr. Amphlett's Introduction gives an exhaustive account of the author and his MSS.: the Text comprises all his work which now exists, verbatim.

Habington's quaint but laboured style may be illustrated by a short extract from the Dedication:—

"To the Right Honorable the Nobility of Worcestershyre.

"MY LORDES,

"Yee are the Cedars of our Shyre flouryshinge above us in the sunshyne of fortune and in her stormes more subject to blastest; yee are the pretious dyamondes in the coronet of our county gyvinge lyght to the inferiours howe to direct theyre lyfes. . . .

"To the Gentellmen of Worcestershyre.

"Among the Solemnities of the Lacedemonians there was a pageant divyded into partes, the one of owlde men who sayde they had byn of worthy reputation, the other of myddell aged persons who professed that theyre valure was invincible, the last of youthes and chyl dren who promysed they would surpasse them bothe. The same I wyshe (Gentellmen) to yoursealfes, that as your ancestors have with credyt fynished theyre courses you wyll indeavour to equall theyre virtues, and your chyl dren who succeede yee maye exceede yee. . . ."

1893. Lay Subsidy Roll for the County of Worcester, circa 1280. Edited for the Worcestershire Historical Society. By J. W. Willis Bund and John Amphlett, M.A.

On title-page, "Sketch of the Huntsman's Cottage, Moseley."

Front. View of Cleeve Prior Court, Worcestershire.

At back of title-page is the oval portrait of Dr. Nash, reduced from that given in his "Collections," and "Hudibras."

List of Subscribers for (1) Japanese vellum Edition (four), and (2) Large paper Edition, pp. iii—vii. View of Redstone Hermitage, p. viii. Preface, pp. ix, x. View of the Leasowes, and "Contents," pp. xi—xviii. View of Holly Mount, and "List of Illustrations," pp. xix—xxiii. Facsimile of the Form of Oath of a Freeman of the City of Worcester, one page. Historic Worcestershire, pp. 1—328. At end "Portrait of John Lord Somers, Baron of Evesham," one page.

There are 156 Illustrations, besides artistic head-pieces, &c., by Mr. John Cotton. These include scenery, portraits, churches, and other historic buildings, facsimiles of old deeds, seals, tombs, coats-of-arms, &c.

This is not a formal history of the county. "Tradition, legend, and folklore of necessity occupy an important place in a volume intended for popular reading; but the causes underlying the social, political, and religious changes which have passed over the county from the time that the Roman legions first entered the Severn Valley down to the day of the memorable fight at Worcester, will be found recorded."
